Leadership requires commitment to achieving specific goals and to the people who've agreed to pursue those goals with us.

Although effective leaders are often clear about what they're trying to accomplish, they typically can't predict all the hurdles and challenges they'll encounter along the way. It is precisely in the face of this uncertainty that the strength of a leader's commitment helps to build the trust and confidence needed to reach their aspirations.

It is in this spirit that we ask that when you nominate a student, you make a formal commitment to NCYLS to have a student represent your school at the seminar. I agree (please initial) _____
